

Comparison of Individual and Group Instruction of Downhill Skiing through the ADI method

The aim of the work

Compared didactic interaction "teacher - pupil" in individual and group lessons for downhill skiing at the 10 year-old children at the beginner level.

Methods

It used the method of observation using standardized category system by

ADI technique (analysis of didactic interactions). There are 9 categories that define molds teacher behavior, behaviors pupil or group of pupils in office, the forms of speech teacher, attitudinal teacher activity and expression of peace substance, type of activity that is subject didactic interaction and the learner, groups or the entire class.

Keywords

ADI, ski school, ski lessons, ski instructor